EVERGREEN

Well the great campaign is over, next comes Thanksgiving Day, so let's give thanks to God for his protection and guidance.

Mr. Lillie Inge, who has just undergone a very serious operation at Baptist Hospital is getting along as well as could be expected. Her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Young, who was a recent patient there, has returned home and is improving fast.

Mr. James Alfred, of Bristol, who has been visiting his granddaughter, Mrs. W. H. Smith, has returned to his home.

Mrs. W. H. Smith and children, of Buckingham, were the guests of Mrs. J. J. Farrar Saturday night.

Rev. J. E. White and wife and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Paulett attended the district Stewards meeting in Lynchburg Saturday.

Our community was shocked Sunday by the sudden death of Mrs. Bettie Cawthon. She was sitting in her chair when the call came and she passed to her eternal home.

Having met with these and other losses, the people who were confronted them and set forth their responsibility, he knelt down and prayed with them before going to Jerusalem, where bonds and afflictions awaited him. They all wept and wept together, they will definitely work together.

Paul's prayer with the Ephesian Elders (Acts 20:36-38).

Knowing the far-reaching influence of the church at Ephesus, he earnestly prayed for them that their influence might be most widely felt.

He prayed for them continually (v. 9).

GOEBEL SECOND TO LINDY AS AIR IDOL

Less Modest Than Colonel, but Great Flyer.

New York—Two years ago a broad-shouldered young man with a crew cut of sulphurous smoke which floats off in a breeze for miles upon miles, in a calm air rises straight toward the vault of the sky for many hundreds of feet.

Yevusius in normal mood shows only a wisp of smoke and does not make the night over her red and red flames of fire nor does she ramble.

AGAIN YEVUSIUS MAKES A THREAT

Gives Warning of Fiery Activity Going On.

Naples—Yevusius is fearful. She is flashing red by night and by day pouring into the blue sky a column of sulphurous smoke which floats off in a breeze for miles upon miles, in a calm air rises straight toward the vault of the sky for many hundreds of feet.
